The At Home with JABA program brings our Community Senior Centers to the homes of seniors (60+). Whether they are homebound or independently navigating the community, this program has something for everyone. With different methods of interaction, JABA is able to reach seniors no matter their comfort level with technology or internet access. Covering a largely rural area with limited internet access, programming offers conference call activities and events as well as mailed activity packets. People can also participate by Zoom, Facebook, and email. An important aspect of our programming is educational and informative presentations and discussions. JABA's programming goal is to engage participants with new ideas, opportunities, and experiences to promote brain health, in addition to physical and mental health.
