MyGuide enables users to improve their own cognitive functioning by interpreting two types of information:

- External information from a user's environment is captured and processed in a way the user can comprehend.
- Internal information, like sensations or emotions, can be accessed and expressed how and when the user chooses.

As a provider of assistive technology (AT), durable medical equipment (DME), therapeutic consultation, occupational therapy (OT), electronic home-based supports (EHBS), and technology manufacturer of MyGuide for improved cognitive functioning like comprehension, decision making, and self-expression, MPower Me believes everyone can have their own voice and choice across all settings, regardless of age or condition.
