Residential community for people who have intellectual and physical disabilities (called core members) and those who support them (called assistants) living together in a mutually supportive community.

The two homes are made to be comfortable for all members, with elevators, accessible bathrooms, extra wide hallways, and large communal gathering spaces. There is 24/7 awake support for individuals who need assistance during the night. The homes are fully accessible.

The homes are also conveniently located near a comprehensive suburban shopping center which provides easy banking, grocery shopping, and eating options. Trips to the local community are made to discover and patronize favorite coffee houses, restaurants, and music venues. Community time is strongly valued at the dinner table, at church, by going on vacations together and by participating in local community nights.
