At the Virginia Rehabilitation Center for the Blind and Vision Impaired (VRCBVI) provide vocational services in preparing to become independent, more successful, leading to more satisfying lives. The following are offered:

- Vocational evaluation involves a comprehensive assessment of the individual's work-related abilities and limitations, utilizing work samples and psychological/vocational testing as indicated. The objective is to suggest feasible vocational options.
- Job exploration class helps students explore their career choices through the use of the Internet, career manuals, job banks, and informational interviews. This can be a stand-alone class or the final step in the work evaluation process.
- Job Seeking Skills class is designed for individuals who will be pursuing competitive employment. It focuses on skill identification, resume development, interviewing, and completion of applications.
- Full psychological test battery (intelligence test, interest inventory, and personality inventory) is administered by vocational evaluators as part of the vocational guidance process.
