Brookside Home Health offers rehabilitative services (speech, physical and occupational). Physical Therapist will assess patient safety and mobility in the home. They also assess the need for durable medical equipment.

Occupational Therapist assess and teach independence in activities of daily living. Speech Therapist provide therapy and teach compensatory techniques to improve communication.

Amedisys' Rehab Therapy @ Home Program can help improve strength and mobility, balance, swallowing and communication disorders, and incontinence issues, with the goal of promoting the patient's independence. After an evaluation by a clinician, an individualized program is developed for each patient and administered where the patient feels most comfortable-at home. Our clinicians coordinate services for management of acute and chronic diseases including: CHF, COPD, Diabetes, Osteoporosis, CVA, Progressive Neurological Disorders, Dementia, and Incontinence.

Brookside Home Health is an Amedisys affiliate.
