Offers: Customized Medications: in the lab we can create, or compound, medications without certain allergy-producing ingredients, in special dosages or in special forms so that the patient is able to take the medicine as prescribed and get the drug's benefit.

Disease Management: we work in conjunction with a patient's primary care practitioner to screen for certain conditions and diseases, and to undertake a plan of care that can include diet planning, exercise, natural vitamins or supplements, customized medications, and regular consultation with a pharmacist or health professional.

General Consultation: many consumers and patients purchase over-the-counter products or natural vitamins and supplements without understanding the guidelines for use or possible risks. Our staff provides detailed consultation on which supplements and vitamins may be best for any given patient.

In addition to preparing customized medications to meet each individual's specific needs, South River also offers a complete line of Nutritional Supplements and Natural Herbal Medicines. Orders may be placed by e-mailing to orders@customdrug.com.
