Valley Health's Anticoagulation Management Program was developed to better serve patients who have taken Coumadin or Warfarin, common blood thinners that decrease the body's ability to clot blood. A few of the conditions that may need anticoagulation management are deep leg vein clots, heart attack recovery, abnormal heart rhythm, lung clots, heart procedure recovery and heart valve replacement.

The Anticoagulation Management Program provides the support of registered nurses and other professional support staff who can answer questions and provide care for local patients.
