Colonial Behavioral Health's (CBH) developmental disabilities residential service, Connections, is provided to adults with developmental disabilities to help individuals live independently in the community to the greatest extent possible. Based on individual need, instructional activities, support and supervision are provided to help persons improve their quality of daily life and promote recovery, independence, clinical stability and community integration. The Connections brochure is available on the website.

For adults with developmental disabilities, (CBH) provides intensive supervised residential services. CBH owns homes in the local community where individuals can reside and receive overnight care. Skills training services and community supports are provided by CBH based on a person-centered plan that is developed with the individual, family and provider team. Wellness, support and safety preferences are incorporated into the planning process. Admission to this program requires a Medicaid Waiver plan.
