Hearing at Home can provide in-home care for residents of Harrisonburg and the surrounding area. In-home care is a specialized service in which hearing professionals visit clients in the comfort of their own homes. Hearing tests are simple, painless procedures that assess your ear health and determine your hearing ability. After the exam, hearing solutions will be discussed. If the audiogram reveals you require treatment in the form of a hearing aid, staff will fit you for hearing aids.

The office also offers hearing aid repair and tinnitus management in the comfort of your home. Custom ear protection is also available to protect from noises and filter out dangerous decibels. Assistive listening devices (ALDs) may also come in handy. Hearing At Home provides ALDs that are compatible with your home entertainment system. Some ALDs connect wirelessly with hearing aids.
