Easterseals Resources for Veterans and Their Families

At Easterseals, we understand the unique challenges Veterans face as they transition from service to civilian life. We are proud to serve those who sacrificed so much to keep us safe. Knowing every Veteran is different, we offer a variety of services for Veterans and military families at many of our 67 Affiliates nationwide.

What are the resources?

Employment Programs and Job Training: Our employment programs can help Veterans find meaningful, skills-based work and a steady income that builds off of Veterans' military experience. We offer resume oversight, skills training and job search assistance. We also work with Freddie Mac to lend financial guidance toward home ownership.

Military and Veterans Caregiver Services: When military families transition to civilian life, their caregivers often take on new roles and need individualized support. We have a variety of resources, including educational webinars where we teach caregivers how to navigate mental illness, childcare, intimacy, and various disabilities Veterans may face. We also have respite and childcare, so families avoid caregiver burnout.

Health and Wellness Programs: After returning home, many Veterans struggle both mentally and physically. To aid these individuals, Easterseals offers mental health counseling, center-based adult day services, in-home services, and physical and occupational therapies.

Community Support: We understand that Veterans also need support from other Veterans, to know they are not alone and can thrive through shared experiences. Through Easterseals, Veterans can access RallyPoint, the premiere digital platform for the military community to come together and build relationships with each other. From job tips to sharing stories and pictures, RallyPoint is the best way to connect digitally. Many Easterseals Affiliates offer Veterans support groups as well.

Advocacy: Beyond our direct services for Veterans, our Washington, D.C.-based government relations team works to influence federal and state legislation affecting Veterans and military families, actively engaging with Congressional staff to address issues impacting Veterans and military families.
